GROUNDING IN STRENGTH

The shape of solutions

Precast Storm Shelters

At Forterra Structural & Specialty Products, we take pride in our ability to dedicate ourselves to each concrete project no matter how big or small. Working with each client from concept to completion to create customized concrete solutions is one of the many ways we do that.

The need for protection from increasingly catastrophic weather events is on the rise. Storm shelters provide military bases, schools, campus areas, firms, landlords and parks and recreation areas with safe havens for their employees or tenants in the event of a natural disaster. Our storm shelters meet state and federal safety requirements and specifications.

The Forterra Advantage

Forterra's precast storm shelters afford many advantages:

- Our engineers customize design, so your storm shelter is tailored to your needs.
- We provide onsite installation assistance, ensuring your job is monitored from design through completion.
- Fabrication takes place in a certified, quality-controlled environment providing durable and efficient precast shelters that are engineered for your site.
- Units are delivered complete and are built to FEMA Tornado Shelter Federal Specifications.
- Precast, segmented design can be installed rapidly in increments appropriate to the number of people who need to be accommodated.
- Size can be expanded for future needs.
- Units are moveable and removable.
- Products provide the end users with confidence knowing what they've selected is low maintenance and resistant to rust, rot, fire, rodents and environmental hazards.
- Product is naturally durable, strong and secure, providing decades of protection.

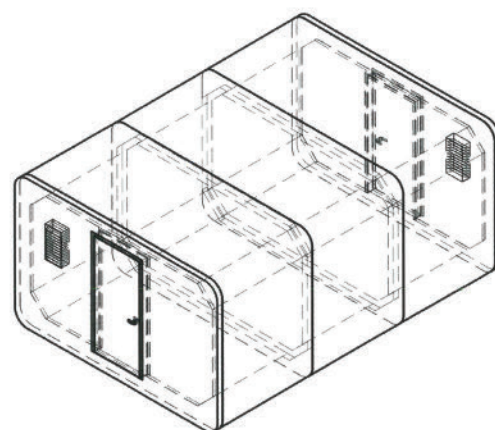

The Shape of Value

By combining the efficiency and quality of precast segments, shelters can be installed using fewer laborers and hours, resulting in quicker completion time and increased cost savings. The attractive appearance blends with the landscape, and units can be painted to conform to surrounding structures.

Allow our broad range of customizable products to bring value to your next project.
